Dual fuel for business

Fixed gas and electricity contracts
for business customers

Dual fuel for business

explained..

Streamline your business energy with dual fuel

We understand that managing your business utilities can be stressful, especially when you're dealing with multiple contracts with different suppliers. That's why we're offering a dual fuel solution to bring your gas and electricity contracts all under one roof, with one point of contact.

What are the benefits for your business?

✓ One point of contact for all your energy needs

Simplify your energy management by having just one key contact to support you with any part of your energy supply - whether it is gas, electricity or both. Manage your energy contracts all under one roof, removing the need to juggle multiple points of contact with different providers.

✓ Easily view your consumption data

Opting for a dual fuel solution can simplify processes like billing and account management. At EDF, we'll still give you access to separate bills for your gas and electricity contracts, allowing you to easily see the breakdown in consumption for each commodity. This is something you can track on our MyBusiness page.

✓ Save your business time and money

We understand the importance of efficiency when it comes to business. By opting for our dual fuel solution, you can free up valuable time and resources that would otherwise be spent managing separate contracts, so you can focus on what matters.

✓ Supporting you on your net zero journey

By understanding your business' full energy consumption, both gas and electricity, we're better placed to help identify the best solutions to support you on your journey to net zero.
