Certainty Power Purchase Agreement

How does it work?

Once your generation is up and running, you will be required to export a minimum of 250 MWh per year to enter into EDF Energy's Certainty PPA. In return, you will receive a fixed price for your output for the contract duration. Our Certainty PPA offers flexible tariff structures; either a single rate or seasonal time of day (STOD) rate.

You can also sell your ROCs and REGOs within the Certainty PPA.

Why choose this option?

Our Certainty PPA gives you budget and income certainty as your generation income is fixed at contract signature and not exposed to wholesale market fluctuations. This gives you assurance in a volatile energy market, helping you deliver to your budget and, should you require, helping to put together a sound investment case. The main benefit is that before your contract starts, you are clear about the income you will receive throughout your contract.

Is the Certainty PPA right for me?

This contract is particularly suitable for businesses with a high level of control over their electricity export and who have historical generation data available. You will need to be exporting at least 250 MWh per year and be able to provide a level of certainty about when and how much electricity will be generated.

If you need some flexibility to allow for changes in the amount you generate, we can also offer variable volume tolerance thresholds.

How do I get started?
